Cover Picture

An etching of the New Home Economics Building, taken from the student year book, "Terrapin". This new building is located just in the rear of the Chemistry Building and faces the north campus. It is one of the new buildings which will be dedicated on Alumni Day, Friday, June 6, 1941. This will be a gala day for the returning "old grad" to see the new campus developed, with new roads, paths and buildings.

Fellow Alumni:

I am sure it is with regret for the Alumni to learn that Geary Eppley, '18, Athletic Director and Dean of Men at the University, has given up his activities at College Park and entered the service of the United States Army as Major of Cavalry. He is now stationed at Fort Meade, Md., where he will be officer in charge of recreation.

This is the second time Geary Eppley, known as "Big Swede," has left the University to serve his country in time of emergency. It was in 191[illegible] that "Swede" left the University as a student to enter the army for the duration of the World War. After his first career in the army, serving as First Lieutenant of Cavalry, "Swede" re-entered the University, where he graduated in 1920. Following graduation he took an advanced course in Agronomy, after which he became assistant Agronomist of his alma mater. For many years "Swede" has been coach of track and assistant coach of football. In 1935 he was appointed Director of Athletics and later Dean of Men, positions he was most admirably qualified to fill.

While a student at the University "Swede" was an outstanding participant in athletics and was very active in all student activities. As a football player he ranks among Maryland's great ends. With "Swede's" personality, disposition and training we feel sure he will go far in the

Our Maryland

Spanish, French, Dutch, and English explorers early touched the territory now known as Maryland, but it was not until March 25, 1634, that the State named in honor of the Queen, Henrietta Maria, had its first permanent settlement. Prior to the first settlement, a trading post had been established at Kent Island by William Claiborne, and some have given Claiborne credit for establishing the first settlement. However, it was not until the charter was granted by Charles I to Sir George Calvert, first Lord Baltimore, and to his son, Cecil, that Maryland was colonized and established as an entity of territory and government.

Freedom of thought and of individual action was stressed from the very beginning of the settlement. The first religious toleration act passed on American soil became a law in Maryland in 1649. In keeping with the thought of freedom for all and friendly relations among all, Maryland had little difficulty with the Indians and probably was the only colony in which all lands acquired from the Indians were formally purchased amicably.

Maryland's first government was proprietary. This continued until 1691, when a royal provincial government was established. In 1715 the proprietorship was restored to the fourth Lord Baltimore, and this form of government continued in the Calvert family until the Revolution. A long dispute between the Calvert and Penn families over the boundaries of their respective provinces resulted in the running of the Mason and Dixon Line in 1767. This line is still the boundary line between Maryland and Pennsylvania.

The colony participated in the movement for independence and drafted a constitution in 1776. All through the war the Maryland Line fought from New York to Carolina. Maryland's contribution of regulars to the Continental Army was far above its quota, and its troops distinguished themselves throughout the war for gallantry. After the close of the Revolutionary War Maryland played a large part in the Constitutional Convention and in the organization of the affairs of the infant nation. John Hanson of Charles County was President of the First Continental Congress, and as such, was in reality the first President of the country. The far-sightedness of the statesmen who represented Maryland in these early conventions was shown by the far-reaching stand they took in refusing to ratify the Articles of Confederation until assured that the western lands would become the property of the Union. It was Maryland that ceded approximately 60 square miles of its territory to the Federal Government for a seat of government, now the District of Columbia.

In the Civil War, Maryland's sympathies were generally with the South. No other State felt the brunt of the war more keenly than did Maryland in relationship to its family life, schisms between families being created which exist to this day. The great battle of Sharpsburg was fought on Maryland soil.

The national anthem, "The Star-Spangled Banner," was written by a Maryland man, Francis Scott Key, at the attack on Fort McHenry in 1814. The present State Song was written as a war song during the Civil War, while the author was in Louisiana. Maryland men have distinguished themselves in the life of the State and Nation, in both peace and war.

Maryland Day Observed On University Campus

His Excellency, Herbert R. O'Conor, '20, LL.B., Governor of Maryland, led special exercises commemorating the founding of Maryland before a capacity crowd in the Ritchie Coliseum, on the State University campus. The exercises were conducted through the cooperation of the State Department of Education and the University. More than two thousand high school students from Montgomery, Prince George's, Anne Arundel and Howard counties attended the exercises.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, LL.D., President of the University, presided at the exercises.

The Honorable Josh Lee, United States Senator from Oklahoma, was the guest speaker. Senator Lee, a former University professor, seemed to understand just the type of talk needed to stimulate the youth of Maryland, which he gave in his best oratorical manner. Soloist for this occasion was Miss Dorothy Seegar, soprano, who was accompanied by Miss Alice Applegate.

An episode depicting the planting of the Cross at St. Mary's City on March 25, 1634, was presented by the Montgomery-Blair High School students under the direction of Miss May Louise Wood, '29, and Mrs. Verna Metcalf. The Invocation for the exercises was sung by the Hyattsville High School Chorus under the direction of Miss Louise Jameson. The concluding episode was the massing of colors, both national and State, by the students of Bladensburg High School with Mrs. Helena Haines directing.

Preceding the exercises a Regimental Review was presented by the R. O. T. C. Unit in honor of Governor O'Conor, General Reckord, Senator Lee and distinguished guests. Following the review the honored guests, faculty and friends repaired to the Rossborough Inn where they were entertained in Colonial fashion by several co-eds attired in Colonial dress. At 11 A.M. the procession entered the Ritchie Coliseum where five thousand students, faculty and friends assembled in honor of the founding of our State.

Benefit Card Party For Our University Hospital

Under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary Board of the University Hospital, headed by Mrs. Greenfield Daniels, the annual Card Party and Dance will be held on Friday, April 18th, at 8:30 P. M., at the Alcazar in Baltimore. There will be a floor show and numerous other attractions which will make for a most enjoyable evening.

This is one function which deserves the philanthropic support of every Alumnus. Even though you may not be able to attend, send a donation anyway, if you wish, to your Alumni Secretary. All gifts will be gratefully received.

Dr. Spicknall, '31, Assigned To Embassy In Berlin

Dr. Charles Spicknall, '31, an eye, ear and throat specialist, has been assigned to duty in the United States Embassy in Berlin. Dr. Spicknall has the rank of captain in the United States Public Health Service.

Following his graduation in medicine he took his interne work at the United States Marine Hospital in Baltimore.

While a student at College Park Dr. Spicknall won the James Goddard Memorial Medal, given to the student with the highest scholastic standing from Prince George's County in the University. His home is in Hyattsville, Md.

army. The University has lost a very valuable man who, both in training and natural ability, was well qualified to handle the position assigned to him.

We, the Alumni, regret the loss of his services to our alma mater, but since he is serving his country as his conscience dictates, we wish him the best of luck and success.

Sincerely yours,

PETER W. CHICHESTER,

DECEASED

The Honorable Harry W. Nice, '99, LL.B., former Governor of Maryland, died recently in Richmond, Va., while en route home from a vacation in Florida. The Alumni mourn the passing of a great and much admired Alumnus who had won the fellowship of so many people of Maryland.

While he was a public servant he gave unselfishly of his time and energy in behalf of the people of Maryland. He was a true and loyal Alumnus, never failing to assist his Alma Mater whenever possible. Mr. Nice will long be remembered by his fellow Alumni with the highest esteem and as one who takes a place among the immortals.

Mr. Nice was a most congenial and cordial man whose genuine frankness and alert sense of humor often won for him the honor as the man of the hour. It was during his term of office as Governor of Maryland that Mr. Nice, as the guest of honor at the annual University Charter Day Celebration held in Baltimore, made the occasion a memorable one by his wit and humor which gave the celebration the atmosphere of an "old pal party."

He was a master at being an after-dinner speaker and surpassed all others as a toastmaster. In 1940 Mr. Nice again served his Alma Mater by doing the honors for the Annual Charter Day occasion and in true fashion he was the hero by his mastery of alert humor.

The NEWS takes this opportunity to convey sincere condolence to his family and many friends on behalf of his fellow Alumni.

Frederick County Group To Meet April 4

Mr. Guy Motter, '05, Law, president of the Frederick County Group of the Alumni Association, announces the Spring meeting of the group will be held at the Frederick Country Club on Friday, April 4th.

Any Maryland Alumnus wishing to attend is invited to do so. Many leaders of the various schools will be present to talk things over with their respective graduates. This does not mean a lot of speech making but a regular fellowship get together.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, has been invited to attend and Mr. P. W. Chichester, '20, a member of the Group and President of the General Alumni Association, will be among the honored guests.

U. S. Army Air Corps

Recent graduates to be commissioned Second Lieutenant in the United States Army Air Corps at Kelly Field, Texas, are Gordon Blood, '43, Engineer, Washington, D. C.; John L. "Jack" Lambert, '42, Engineer, Baltimore; Francis Smith, '42, Commerce, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Albert Aiken, '42, Engineer, Cheverly, Md.

These boys were also the first students to take the Civilian Aeronautic Course in the country and at the University. They were also first to take the advanced courses at Schrom Airport.

Lambert is in the heavy bombardment division, Aiken in pursuit, Blood in observation, Smith in light bombardment.

Their station assignments are not known at present.

N. Y. A.—Jesse Krajovic, '32, K. A., is with the National Youth Administration, Camp Holabird Industrial enter, Dundalk, Md. Jesse is married and has a six-year-old daughter. The Krajovics live at Arcadia, Maryland.

Dr. Paterson, '11, D.D.S. Dies Following Illness

A most loyal and enthusiastic Alumnus has been called from among the living: Dr. Alexander H. Paterson, '11, D.D.S. He was a native of Pennsylvania, where he spent most of his earlier years, but following his graduation in Dentistry he became a Marylander and has resided in Baltimore ever since. He was an honor graduate in his class, winning the Gold Award for the highest scholastic average. Following graduation he specialized in Prosthetic Dentistry and was appointed Demonstrator in the school.

In 1924 he was elected Professor of this subject and continued to hold that chair until the time of his death. He contributed widely to dental literature, including several articles for Nichols Prosthetic Dentistry and the American Textbook of Prosthetic Dentistry. He was an outstanding lecturer and clinician. In addition to appearing before many dental society meetings in this country, he lectured and presented clinics in schools and dental societies of Great Britain, France and Holland. He held membership in the Gorgas Odontological Society, the Omicron Kappa Upsilon Fraternity and the Oriole Alumni Chapter of Psi Omega Fraternity. Dr. Paterson was a Fellow of the American College of Dentists. From 1926 to 1927 he was President of the Maryland State Dental Association. He was a member of Oriental Lodge of Masons and of Boumi Temple.

As chairman of the Historical Exhibits Committee of the Dental Centenary held in Baltimore last March, Dr. Paterson planned and supervised the building of the Historical Court, the central feature of the exhibits.

Dr. Paterson is survived by his wife, the former Caroline Elizabeth Haas, and four daughters, Jean Bess, Ann and Ruth. Jean and Bess are also graduates of the University with honors and Ann now is a student in the University. He is also survived by four sisters and three brothers, including John C. Paterson, a local attorney.

The NEWS takes this occasion on behalf of fellow Alumni to convey sincere condolence to his family and devoted companions.

From The Fleet Marines In The Tropics

Somewhere in the Caribbean —

Some day some imaginative Marine, if he can talk Molloquino's Restaurant in San Juan or "The Chinaman" in Guantanamo into shifting from Longusta salad to Terrapin, will stage a Marine Corps "Maryland" night and do pretty good on attendance.

Among other Marylanders with the Atlantic Marine Force here, tanned, hard fit and ready, are Lieutenant-Colonels Galen Sturgis, '17, and Maryland's boxing coach, "Heinie" Miller. Sturgis commands an Artillery Regiment, Miller commands one of the new reinforced Combat Battalions. Under Sturgis is First Lieutenant "Jack" Ennis, '26, commanding an Artillery Battery, while First Lieutenant Charles L. Cogswell, '36, is Operations Officer on Battalion Staff. First Lieutenant Reed M. Fawell commands a tank outfit and one of the Regimental Surgeons is Lieutenant-Commander Robles, U. S. N.

Other Marylanders of football fame are in the aviation unit in the Caribbean, and it is understood more are on the way to the tropical posts.

Miss Eva Sue Irwin and Frank Cronin, '39, were married September 21. Frank, a former Old Line track and boxing luminary, is now in the Recreation Department of the District of Columbia. The newlyweds live in Hyattsville.

Greenskeepers — Alton (Ike) Rabbit '37, now superintendent in charge of lawns for the National Park Service, was lecturer at the annual meeting of the Greenskeepers' Association, held at College Park last month. Dr. E. N. Cory, '09, assistant director of the Experiment Station, was director of the course.

o

Steel—Stanley Lore, '34, engineer, paid the campus a brief visit last month. He has been attending a get-together of Civil Engineering classmates. Stanley is now residing in Philadelphia, where he is representative for the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp.

"Sailor of Fortune"

by George Fogg, '26

In these days, when it would be consoling to believe that the nation is producing new heroes and leaders, it may not be unreasonable to take a glance back at one of the greatest Maryland has produced. Capt. Joshua Barney, sometimes maligned as a pirate, was one of the founders of the United States Navy in the Revolutionary days and was the only commander to acquit himself with any honor at the battle of Bladensburg.

Hulbert Footner, a Marylander by adoption, tells the story in an easy-reading biography called Sailor of Fortune.

Back in the days when Baltimore consisted of about 25 houses Joshua Barney succeeded in getting himself apprenticed to a sea captain. After several voyages with this Captain Barney received the second mate's work and wages, but not the title. On a voyage leaving Baltimore in December, 1774, the first mate left the ship, the Captain died, and Barney, at the age of fifteen, was the only officer left. He navigated correctly, dealt successfully with dishonest agents and politicians in Italy, and brought his ship back to Baltimore just as the Revolution broke out.

Baltimore was now becoming quite a town. A census showed that it had 5,938 people. Congress met there in 1776 and commissioned several naval officers, including Joshua Barney, and sent a naval expedition to convoy some merchant ships out of Chesapeake Bay. The voyage was a failure and Barney was captured by the British. He had made a good impression, however, and later when he was exchanged by the British for other prisoners of war he was quickly provided with a berth in the navy.

The background of jealousy, corruption, and incompetence makes it hard to understand how the Revolution could have been brought to a successful conclusion, but through it all Barney had the continuous confidence of Robert Morris and even General Washington. He was captured several times, on one of which occasions he was taken to England to prison. He escaped by dressing himself up as a British officer and ordering people about.

His naval battles showed that he had capacity to make small resources in men and ships go a long way. Off Henlopen Point he captured a warship, the General Monk, which carried one-third more guns than his own, by a cleverly executed trick which made a good many of the enemy's guns useless. All of these adventures Mr. Footner describes with sure appreciation for a really great man and with the human detail which makes fine reading.

After the Revolution things went not so well with Mr. Barney. He put his savings of prize money into one project after another, all of which went sour. He sold goods at great profit to the Haitiens, but failed to collect because of the slave insurrections on that unfortunate island. His ships, loaded with merchandise, were captured by the British and impounded; his agents absconded with his money. Finally he entered the naval service of France with even less good fortune. He advanced some

COLLEGE OF COMMERCE ALUMNI MEETING

Present At College Of Commerce Alumni Reunion

The first annual meeting of the College of Commerce Alumni was held in the University Dining Hall, February 22, headed by Elwood Armstrong, '26, President. After a very active meeting the group adjourned to attend the basketball and boxing games in the Ritchie Coliseum.

In addition to the Alumni several members of the faculty joined in a real fellowship get-together.

Dr. MacKenzie Stevens, Dean of the College, cooperated in sending out notices and spurred enthusiasm for the meeting. The College of Commerce is quite young when compared with the other Colleges, but they are making an enthusiastic start.

Several projects are under consideration, including assistance to commerce students in school, seniors about to graduate and a better coordination of Alumni interest for the welfare of the College.

Among those present were:

Douglas S. Steinberg, '40, College Park, Md. William L. Miller, '39, Baltimore, Md. George H. Eierman, '39, Baltimore, Md. John F. Wolf, '38, Hyattsville, Md. Herbert N. Budlong, '29, Washington, D. C. Jacob B. Selar, '34, Silver Spring, Md. Fred B. Linton, '29, Takoma Park, Md. Harry N. Wilson, '30, Easton, Md. Dr. V. J. Wyckoff, faculty. Dr. J. A. Fisher, faculty.

Mary Louise Ganzert, '39, Washington, D. C. Ellner Cornell, '39, Washington, D. C. Ralph Tyser, '40, Baltimore, Md. Athin, '38, Washington, D. C. John P. Zebelean, '37, Catonsville, Md. Dr. M. C. Gay, faculty. Elwood Armstrong, '26, Baltimore, Md. John McKewen, '26, Baltimore, Md. Dr. MacKenzie Stevens, Dean of College of Commerce.

All Of Spring Sports Squads Are Facing Some Difficult Problems; 59 Events Are Listed In Baseball, Track, Lacrosse And Tennis

Maryland's Spring sports teams in lacrosse, baseball, track and tennis are going to have tremendous tasks on their hands in combatting strenuous schedules that list a total of 59 contests, 37 of which are booked at College Park.

Baseball tops the list with 26 games, tennis players will figure in 14 matches, the National championship lacrosse squad has 11 battles, and the tracksters will take part in eight affairs. All have a great majority of their tests at home, except the track squad, which travels for six of its meets.

Every one of the teams were hard hit by graduations and losses for other reasons and considerable rebuilding will have to be done to approach the 1940 records. Last Spring the lacrosse team won all its 10 collegiate contests, losing only to the powerful Mount Washington Club; the racketers won 8 of 9 matches for their best record in history; the ball team grabbed 11 of 20 games, and the tracksters captured 3 of 5 dual meets and shone in national events.

Shortage Of Pitchers

Baseball's toughest problem will be pitching, with Max Hunt, husky right-hander, as the only regular slabman left from 1940. Lefty Earl Springer and Pershing Mondorff, an ace pair, finished their college careers, and Lefty Leon Vannais, a great prospect, quit school to go to work. Hugh Keller, hard-hitting outfielder, and Adam Bengocchea, star of the infield, and Bob Burns, catcher, were among the 10 letter men lost. Hunt is one of the six letter men back, the others being Leib McDonald, Dick McHale, and Jim Wharton, infielders; Bill England and Fritz Maisel, outfielders.

Mearle DuVall, retarded by injuries last year, who'll play first, and Roscoe Whipp, infield reserve last year, are others expected to be regulars. Wharton will become the catcher, a job he can handle ably. Lefty Frank Dwyer, another vet, will play in the outfield and help with the pitching. England also will share in the slabbing.

Bill Fulton, pitcher, Joe Hoopengardner, infielder, and Danny Boothe and Irving Gordy, outfielders, are the only promising recruits from the 1940 freshman outfit. Art Woodward, from last year's staff, is Hunt's chief pitching support.

Lacrosse Goalie Needed

There are only eight letter men back for lacrosse, 10 having been lost, eight by graduation. These included Milton Mulitz, defense, and Oscar Navares, attack, both all-Americas. However, Markland Kelly, all-State goalie and second all-America, left probably the biggest hole when he quit to go into Navy aviation. Jack Grier, another able goal tender, was among those graduated.

Jack Mueller, Bill Graham, and Fred Widener, defense men, and Jordan Sexton, Chick Allen, Jack Garrett, Al Slesinger and Bill McGregor, attack men, are the letter men on hand. Carl Bachrach, reserve goalie, and Ashton Thumm, defense, are the other chief left-overs.

Julius Bridges and Jim Forbes, goalies; Charles Keller, Bob Fetters and John Rabai, defense, and Milton VandenBerg and Ray Grelecki, attack, top the talent coming up from the 1940 yearlings.

If an able goalie can be developed, it will be a tough job to take the title from the Terps, and Forbes appears able to fill the bill.

Track Squad Formidable

There are only five of eleven letter men back from the track team with the losses including such greats as Jim Kehoe, Alan Miller and Mason Chronister, but the outlook is for a well-balanced outfit that probably will match the dual meet record of 1940.

Joe Murphy, Southern Conference sprint champion; Gene Ochsenreiter, quarter-miler; Bob Condon, half-miler; Tom Fields, Conference mile and 2-mile king, and Bill Tilley, sprinter and broad jumper, are the "M" men available. Chester Ernst, sprinter; Elmer Rigby, who can run anything from the 100 to 440; Vernon Miller, 440; Bob Montgomery, 440 and 880; Randall Cronin, 880, and Dick Shaffer, javelin and discus, are others from last year who should figure prominently.

Much strength should be added by sophomores, who include Louis Chacos, sprinter; Tom Devlin, 440; Stanley Kihn, mile

TERP TRACK ACE

TOMMY FIELDS

Hyattsville lad who won several big events during the indoor season and who doubtless will set the pace for the Terps in a difficult outdoor program.

Grid Squad Impresses In Spring Practice

Jack Faber, Al Woods and Al Heagy, who brought the Maryland football squad to such a well-developed stage for the closing games of the 1940 campaign, are working hard and impressively with 45 willing aspirants in Spring drills.

It is a rather pleasing-looking squad, one that contains much promise despite the loss of some star veterans and that the Frosh team tied one game and lost four last Fall. In fact, it is the work of some of the rookies that makes the Maryland coaches look forward to next September with a goodly degree of optimism.

Should Get Better Start

It should be a much different beginning next Fall than was made in 1940 when the three young mentors started from scratch and installed a system that was vastly changed over the preceding season. That the system and the tutoring were okay but needed time for development was demonstrated in the last three tilts when V. M. I. was greatly outgained, highly-favored Rutgers was rudely upset, 14-7, and Washington and Lee was tied.

In fact, no eleven in this sector was playing smoother football at the finish, even the ones which had much superior assets and which were handled by mentors who carried the "big-time" label. So, with the benefit of that "building" year, the three Maryland grads appear in much better position for the 1941 tests.

Changed rules, particularly the one that allows the forward passing of the ball from two yards back of the line, should prove a boon to Maryland's doublewing back plays.

Two Shifts Are Made

Two marked shifts have been made in the Spring drills. Don Shockey, fast 205-pounder, having been sent from the backfield to tackle. This move appears to be a ten-strike. Jack Gilmore, a back last year, also is developing well as an end.

Ends offer the main problem and all will be new, as Luther Conrad, who was shifted from guard to wing last year, has returned to his old job, where he is an ace. All the other letter wingmen were lost.

While it cannot be expected to be a "whirlwind", the 1941 eleven should play enough football to please all reasonable followers.

Former Maryland athlete, as he looked in 1923, who has been made manager of the immense and important new Washington Airport at Gravelly Point, Va.

Meade Becomes Coach Of Lehigh Stickmen

Jim Meade, former football and lacrosse star for the Terps and now a halfback for the Washington Redskins, is coaching the Lehigh lacrosse team this year. Jim was all-America second defense for Maryland in 1938 and 1939 and should be a big help to the Lehigh team. He assisted in coaching the Maryland stick squad last year and was handling the stickmen while Jack Faber and Al Heagy were with the gridders when he was offered the Lehigh job.

Johnny Groves Soaring In Aviation Service

Johnny (Boots) Groves, '24, one of Maryland's best all-around athletes in his day, has been made manager of the new Washington Airport at Gravelly Point, Va.

Groves began work with Government aviation in 1926 and when appointed to his new job was assistant chief of the Civilian Pilot Training Division of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. He has been successively aeronautical observer, airport specialist and official of the private flying division.

Before going with the CAA, Johnny served two years in the Marine Corps as lieutenant. He is married and has two children. He resides in Fairfax, Va.

Groves was an important cog in Maryland's famous 1923 eleven — probably the school's greatest. He kicked the field goal that beat Penn, 3 to 0, and starred in the game in which Yale's Eastern championship team was well outplayed but which the Terps lost, 14-16.

A great difference in the Groves of 1923 and in the Groves of today is that he now works all the time like he used to play on Saturdays. Johnny didn't care much for the football practice grind but he sure could go to town when the games rolled around. He also was a letter man in basket ball and baseball.

Field Day To Provide Elaborate Program

Although Field Day, May 3, is some distance off, plans already are pretty well set for the annual affair that is the high spot of the Spring season. As usual, schoolboys will have their fling in a double track meet in which there will be 13 open interscholastic events and eight closed to county high schools of the State.

There will be plenty of other big attractions in which varsity teams will face Washington College in baseball, Virginia Poly in track, Princeton in lacrosse and George Washington in tennis.

All of the track competition will be run concurrently and the lacrosse game will furnish the grand finale.

and 2 miles; Jack Gilmore, a better than 6 foot high jumper; Luther Conrad, Lohr Dunlap and Reggy Vincent, in the shot and discus, and Melvin Leonberger, hurdler.

Maryland's weak spots are the hurdles, javelin and pole vault, but the Terps will be tough to outrun on the flat and should get a fair share of points in the other field tests.

Tennis Left To Vets

Tennis, which lost its first three ranking players — Al Ritzenberg, Nathan Askin and Jack Phillips, will have to bank on the five remaining letter men, as the 1940 frosh provided little. Phil Burkom, Doyle Royal, Harry Baugher, Jim Burnside, and Jim Hardey are the "M" men who will have to carry the burden.

Fields Tops Trackmen In Indoor Affairs

Tommy Fields, senior ace, set the pace for the Maryland trackmen in indoor meets.

Fields won both the Southern Conference mile and 2-mile titles, took the Rector's 1,000 in the C. U. games in Washington, the Governor's Mile and the Collegiate Mile in the Maryland-Fifth Regiment meet in Baltimore as his chief feats, and also ran on several winning relays.

Lou Chacos, sprinter; Bob Montgomery, Tom Devlin, Randall Cronin, Bill Tilley, Vernon Miller, Bob Condon and Chester Ernst, all runners, also figured prominently.

Miller's best feat was winning the D. C. A. U. 300-yard crown in the Washington A. A. games, while he shared in relay wins with Montgomery, Cronin, Condon, Devlin and Fields.

Freshmen Stirling Kehoe, half-miler, and Dick Alexander, high jumper, also gathered honors in the A. A. U. division of the various meets. Alexander won both in Baltimore and at the Southern Conference games. Kehoe's best were a couple of second places but he's a comer. Both he and Alexander should shine for the yearlings outdoors.

Lieut. Allan Miller, '39, and Miss Virginia Mercer, '42, have announced their engagement. Lieutenant Miller is now stationed at Quantico and will be able to see his fiancee more often than he has in the past, which makes it very nice for both Allie and Virginia, since he is still in school.

Freshmen Tossers Offer Hope For Next Season

A frosh basket ball team that won 13 out of 16 games and which contained many sizable performers is a source of great encouragement for the next varsity season, if enough of the boys survive the scholastic grind.

Don Schuerholz, Tommy Mont, Carlton Steiner, Kenneth Daniels, Ernie Travis, Lou Hesson and Tommy Murphy, all Marylanders, and Heckert Horn, John Brenner, George Simler, Bob James, Edward Baitz and Joe Havrilla gave Coach Al Heagy a good squad and the former star Terp athlete made the most of his opportunity.

The boys, many of them green, were improving rapidly as the season ended.

Meet Artistic Success Despite Snowstorm

Hit by the Winter's worst snow storm, the Maryland Fifth Regiment indoor meet in Baltimore on March 7th was a financial failure but an artistic success. There really were more people present than reasonably could have been expected under the almost impossible traveling conditions.

Only one celebrity missed the affair on account of conditions, Fred Wolcott, the world's top hurdler from Rice Institute, being grounded in the Midwest while making the trip by plane

Earl Meadows and Dick Gausden, the latter the world record holder, spiced the pole vault; Al Blozis of Georgetown, ace of shot putters, and Don Lash, Joe McCluskey, Charley Beetham and other star runners were on hand.

Jim Kehoe, who shone for Maryland until he was graduated last June, whipped Beetham and others in the Oriole 660, the top running event of the games.

In all, eight meet records were broken and the talent and program was such that a big crowd doubtless would have attended had weather conditions been anywhere near normal.

of his personal funds to fit out ships for France on orders of the ephemeral French revolutionary governments only to lose both his money and the ships. They gave him a fine certificate for his trouble.

He was back in Baltimore when the famous Jerome Bonaparte appeared and lived with the Barneys while he bowled over the Baltimore belles and married Betsy Patterson.

The years of peace were hard on Barney, but he had one last season of action when, with five guns and a handful of sailors, he opposed the whole British force at Turnbull's Bridge at Bladensburg. He was wounded here, and after the battle retired to his home at Elkridge. Congress presented him with a sword. He died in the winter of 1818.

Barney was vain, perhaps, but honest and generous. He had the respect of the biggest men of his time and the enmity of the smallest. His life was dangerous but never petty.

The author of this lively biography is a Canadian-born newspaper man and author. After apprenticeship on New York and Canadian newspapers he established a reputation as an author of detective stories—some of the best. Recently he bought and restored an old house at Lusby, Maryland. He wrote about this house in The Saturday Evening Post and in a book called Charles' Gift. Since that he has been a Marylander.

National Defense Atmosphere On Campus

Recently student cadets of the R. O. T. C. Units called on the powers that be at Fort George Meade for two light tanks of World War No. I vintage for display before the campus Armory.

The students' wish was granted and with the cooperation of the General Service Department and Mr. Herbert Russell, Chief Engineer of the University, the two tanks now reside in front of the Armory.

More than 1300 men are now in the unit headed by Cadet Col. John Reckord, cousin of Gen. Milton A. Reckord, Commander of the Fifth Regiment, Maryland National Guard, now the 175th Infantry of the United State Army.

The newlyweds reside at 414 Kensington Road, Baltimore, Maryland.

Baseball—P. C. Prough, '95, a former football and baseball star, brought to the campus the original baseball used by the team in 1892, Maryland's first win from the Navy. Prough was the pitcher and must have struck out the last man and the generous catcher gave him the ball.

The ball will now rest among those cherished relics symbolizing early victorious days for the Old Liners.

Mr. Prough lives at Sykesville, Maryland, and seldom misses a Homecoming or Alumni Reunion.

George Wansey Andrews, one of the founders of the Maryland College of Pharmacy, was born in Baltimore, Maryland, in the year 1801.

He entered the drug business at No. 3 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland, in 1829, but moved to No. 5 West Baltimore Street in 1842. He associated with him in 1857 as a partner William Silver Thompson, after which the firm was known as Andrews and Thompson, Chemists and Apothecaries.

Fellow Alumni:

There are many attractive and interesting events on the University calendar for the month of May. You will see the general schedule elsewhere in this issue but I want to make a few remarks about them.

At this season most Alumni are interested in outdoor athletics at the University, and will no doubt be particularly interested in Field Day, to be held at College Park on May 3rd. This is an annual event and usually draws a large crowd from all parts of our State.

The events which usually cause the most excitement will be thirteen open interscholastic events for high school boys. There will also be eight closed track events to county high school students of the State.

In addition to the above there will be several other attractions in which the University varsity teams will face Washington College in baseball; Virginia Poly in track; Princeton in lacrosse, and George Washington in tennis.

Other occasions on the schedule which will be in the limelight are Military Day and May Day. The former will have extra

Special Reunion Classes Alumni Day

Beginning with the fiftieth reunion class of 1891, the classes then jump every five years for emphasis on special reunions in order— 1896, 1901, 1906, 1911. In the limelight will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of the class of 1916. Then 1921, 1926, 1931 and 1936 will follow, with their twentieth, fifteenth, tenth and fifth year reunions, respectively.

All other classes will have special meetings to prepare for their reunion in future years.

Frederick J. McKenna, President of 1916, will lead his fellow classmates in the quarter-century return to the campus "On the Hill." A large return is expected and a special table of honor will be theirs at the annual luncheon. The campus member of the class is L. E. Bopst, who will assist in making arrangements for the reunion.

Fifty-Year Class

Dr. Fletcher P. Veitch, '91, expects to have 100 per cent of the living members of his class present, as there are only two surviving. The other member is James B. Latimer of Island Creek, Md. Both are past officers in the Alumni Association, Dr. Veitch past President and Mr. Latimer, past Secretary-Treasurer. The traditional flag-raising by the half-century class will be carried out at noon.

The Twenty-Year Grads

Eddie Morgan, '21, has said he will be on hand for this reunion. How many others will join him?

Clifton E. Fuller and W. T. S. Rollins of 1896 never miss a reunion, anyway.

Dick Whiteford, '01, past President of the Alumni Association, will be on hand, which is fifty per cent of his class. But he expects John T. Hardisty, now in Atlanta, Ga., to join him.

A. Moulton McNutt, J. J. T. Graham and Ferdinand Zerkel have already declared their intentions for the 1906 class reunion.

H. R. Devilbiss and J. W. Kinghorne are going to round up the boys of the 1911 class.

Presidents of the more recent classes will give the call. Stewart Whaley for 1926, Joseph Deckman for 1931, and J. Herbert Brill for 1936.

Norman E. Brice, '08, Tendered Testimonial Dinner

Norman E. Brice, '08

As a feature of their annual sales meeting, some 200 officers, executives, and salesmen of the Permutit Company, New York, manufacturers of water conditioning equipment, gathered in a testimonial dinner at the Hotel Astor on January 3, 1941, to honor Norman E. Brice, '08, chief engineer in charge of design, production, mechanical research, and construction for the company, for having completed 25 years of service.

W. S. Spencer Robertson, President of the company, in his laudatory address, eulogized Mr. Brice for his many mechanical improvements to plant and product which have contributed to the rapid growth of the industry that was young a quarter of a century ago. It is of interest that Permutit equipment conditions the water for the University of Maryland power plant at College Park.

After receiving his Bachelor's Degree at College Park, Mr. Brice matriculated at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., and was awarded his professional degree of M.E. in 1911.

His daughter, Mary Elizabeth, graduates this year at College Park and another daughter, Nancy, who married Denzel E. Davis, '35, was a member of the class of '38. A possible fourth Brice Terrapin is Norman, Jr., now a sophomore at the Loomis School, Windsor, Conn.

Ransom Lewis, '19, Elected President Frederick Group

The annual meeting of the Frederick County Alumni Group was held April 4th at the Catoctin Country Club under the leadership of Guy Motter, '05, Law, President. It was a general fellowship get together with a few speeches and movin pictures of interesting campus events.

Dr. Hugh O. Bone, professor in Political Science, gave an interesting talk o the present war propaganda. Dr. T. B. Aycock, '24, Medicine, Surgeon Chief of Staf of Baltimore City Hospitals, reviewed briefly the medical organization in the Nationa Defense Program.

A short business meeting consisted o the Nominating Committee's report, which presented the following officers for the ensuing year: Ransom R. Lewis, '19, fo President; Dr. William E. Trail, '26, Den tal, Vice-President; Richard E. Zimmerman, '37, Arts and Science, '40, Law Secretary. On the Executive Committe are Dr. Charles Mullen, '24, Pharmacy Ross V. Smith, '29, Agriculture; Dr. A Tolbott Brice, '31, Medicine, and Melvin H. Derr, '31, Education. The entire slat was unanimously elected.

Ransom Lewis has always taken an ac tive interest in Alumni affairs. He ha served for three years on the Alumn Board as representative of the College o Education with a record of attendanc close to perfect. The same goes for al Alumni gatherings. Ransom resides nea Frederick, where he owns and operates dairy farm.

The Alumni Secretary, G. F. Pollock '23, presented the movies.

"M" Club Will Hold Spring Meeting

At a recent meeting of the "M" Club Board of Representatives it was decided to hold a spring get together of club members and their friends on Thursday, May 1st, at the Stafford Hotel, Baltimore. The meeting will start at 7 P. M. with a varied program regarding the Terrapin athletic activities. The program will be preceded by a buffet supper at a small per capita cost.

Mr. James W. Stevens, '19, President of the "M" Club, will preside and the general arrangements are under the direction of Jimmy Swartz, '19, general chairman of the meeting.

Last year the meeting, held at Beaver Dam Country Club, near College Park, was well attended and received with such enthusiasm as to encourage the club to hold another meeting, this time in Baltimore. Many of the former athletes of bygone days were on hand and brought with them some prospective talent for their Alma Mater.

Roll Call

At the meeting several other matters of interest were discussed. The outstanding subject was the "Roll Call" which was sent out early this spring. This was in the nature of a questionnaire to every former athlete, asking for a resumé of his activities since graduation. The response has been encouraging but not 100 per cent. Those who have received the questionnaire but have not returned them, please do so at your earliest convenience, thus helping the Board make a complete compilation of former Terp athletes.

Reports were heard from several other committees, with the Scholarship Committee expressing their wishes for more contributions from Alumni for the Fund.

The meeting then tapered off into a good round of fellowship, confab and discussions about athletics in general.

Those present were: J. W. Stevens, '19, C. N. Cory, '09, H. B. Shipley, '14, E. E. Powell, '13, Jimmy Swartz, '19, Knocky Thomas, 28, Dr. C. W. Valentine, '03, J. E. Bopst, '16, Mike Stevens, '28, A. K. Besley, '23, H. R. Devilbiss, '09, E. F. Zalesak, '25, and G. F. Pollock, 23.

TAPPING FOR TAU BETA PI

At the annual tapping ceremony of Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honorary fraternity, three outstanding engineering Alumni were tapped for membership. It is the policy of the fraternity to take in each year three Alumni who have distinguished themselves in the engineering profession and would have been eligible for membership had there been a chapter at Maryland when they were students.

Edmund C. Mayo, '04, M.E., president and general manager of the Gorham Manufacturing Company in Providence, Rhode Island, was admitted. The Gorham Company is the world's largest silversmiths.

The chapter also honored Francis Dryden, '09, C.E., assistant commissioner of Works Progress Administration, Federal Works Agency.

The commercial operations engineer of the New York Telephone Company, Ralph S. Healy, '13, E.E., was the third Alumnus tapped for membership.

In addition, two seniors and six juniors were tapped for membership in the fraternity.

Employment Opportunities

Calls are now constantly being received by the Alumni Office for employment applicants to fill vacancies in many different fields. It is requested that all Alumni, who do not have a job—if there are any—or those who are looking for better jobs, communicate with the Alumni Office at once. State clearly what you are most interested in and your present position. If at any time an offer is received in which we feel you would be interested, you will be notified at once.

Give your name, address, present occupation, phone number, and any preference in position desired.

Fellow Alumni:

emphasis this year because of the expanding Defense Program. Many old boys will marvel at the size of the R. O. T. C. Unit when they know there are more than 1300 boys in the Regiment. May 7th is the date and I hope as many as possible will be present.

It is not too early for me to call your attention to Alumni Day, which will be held at College Park on June 6th. Details are now being arranged and we feel sure an attractive program will be presented. I feel sure all Alumni will be pleased to know that the Rossborough Inn will be open on this date for your pleasure. Make plans now to be present at College Park for Alumni Day on June 6th.

Sincerely yours,

PETER W. CHICHESTER,
President.

Directing Pharmacy Centennial

Otto W. Muehlhause
General Chairman

Fellow Alumni and Friends —

We of the School of Pharmacy are this year celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of its founding. The arrival at this point in its life is in itself an enviable accomplishment, surpassed only by two similar institutions in this vast nation.

Those men who laid the foundation for our present College must surely have been gifted with keen foresight, for our Institution has graduated its share of able and competent pharmacists. Of these graduates, many have advanced to become leaders in one or more of the several branches of pharmacy, including ethical retailers, wholesalers, manufacturers, research men and instructors. The State has always had an ample supply of talented pharmacists and has frequently shared them with other sections of the country.

As all drug activity in the State revolves around our School of Pharmacy, and pharmacy in Maryland enjoys such a wholesome reputation, we Alumni can be justly proud. The success enjoyed by our School reflects the ability and efforts of its corps of instructors and their directors.

To these men and women, I extend my sincere best wishes.

O. W. Muehlhause,

Secretary, Alumni Association

Centennial Celebration June 4 and 5, 1941

Preparations for celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the School of Pharmacy of the University of Maryland are rapidly going forward.

Among the groups actively cooperating with the Alumni Association are the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association, the Baltimore Retail Druggists' Association, the Baltimore Drug Exchange, the Travelers Auxiliary of the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association and the Baltimore Veteran Druggists' Association.

The following have been selected as the chairmen of the different committees:

Otto W. Muehlhause, General Chairman
Marvin J. Andrews, Reception and Dance
B. Olive Cole, Program
Hyman Davidov, Publicity
A. G. DuMez, Session on Education
H. A. B. Dunning, Finance
Harry S. Harrison, Banquet
Walter H. Hartung, Scientific Session
Emory G. Elm, Registration
Stephen J. Provenza, Entertainment
T. Ellsworth Ragland, First General Session
L. N. Richardson, Academic Convocation
John A. Strevig, Reservations
Harry A. Zears, Luncheons

and are proceeding with the final plans for the celebration.

The program will extend over two days and will include the following:

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 4TH

10:30 a.m. First General Session
1:00 p.m. Luncheon
2:30 p.m. Scientific Session
2:30 p.m. Entertainment for the Ladie
8:30 p.m. Reception and Dance

Fellow Alumni:

As President of the Alumni Association of the School of Pharmacy, I wish to express my appreciation of the whole-hearted cooperation which is being evidenced by the committees and friends of the School who are planning for the Centennial Celebration on June 4 and 5, 1941. Only to graduates who happen to be living in this generation, and only once in their lifetime will this opportunity present itself. It therefore, behooves us to take full advantage of it. We plan to celebrate by paying homage to the memory of the founders of the School, and also by presenting during the morning and afternoon sessions the able present-day scientists and educators as speakers. We also plan to celebrate around the festive board and to the swing of tuneful dance music. You cannot afford to miss this two-day CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

100 Years Of Pharmaceutical Education In Maryland

(Excerpts from Dean A. G. DuMez's Founders' Day Address)

To the Alumni who derive satisfaction from observing the progress made by the University of Maryland and its various departments, this short historical sketch should make interesting reading.

Beginning with the incorporation of the Maryland College of Pharmacy on January 27, 1841, the history of pharmaceutical education in Maryland is a record of a century of continuous progress of one institution and of the beneficial influence which has radiated in many directions therefrom. Many pioneers in pharmaceutical thought and practice contributed richly of their time and energy to make this record and many graduates in pharmacy have gone forth to reflect the soundness of the education received and to bring honor to the profession.

Vicissitudes Of The School

The first lectures of the Maryland College of Pharmacy were given in a small room at Gay and Baltimore Streets, the office of Thomas G. Mackenzie, who was one of the leading spirits in establishing the College and the first President of the institution. From April 24, 1844, until 1847, the lectures were given at the University of Maryland, Lombard and Greene Streets. After the reorganization of the College in 1856, classes were held in several rented halls: Eutaw and Lexington Streets, Calvert and Water Streets, the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty Hall at 47 N. Calvert Street and 12 W. Baltimore Street. In 1874 the College unsuccessfully petitioned the Legislature of Maryland for

*The Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration of the Maryland College of Pharmacy was held at the old Academy of Music, Friday, noon, April 17, 1891; the reception at the College building, 4-6 P. M., and the banquet at night, Eutaw House, when as escort of Prof. John M. Maisch of Philadelphia, we enjoyed together the choice edibles, classic music and interesting speeches. Professor Maisch hoped to live long enough to see the centennial of his own College, then 32 years distant. Personally, I hoped to live to see our Centennial, then fifty years hence — now upon us. # Progress In Pharmaceutical Manufacturing

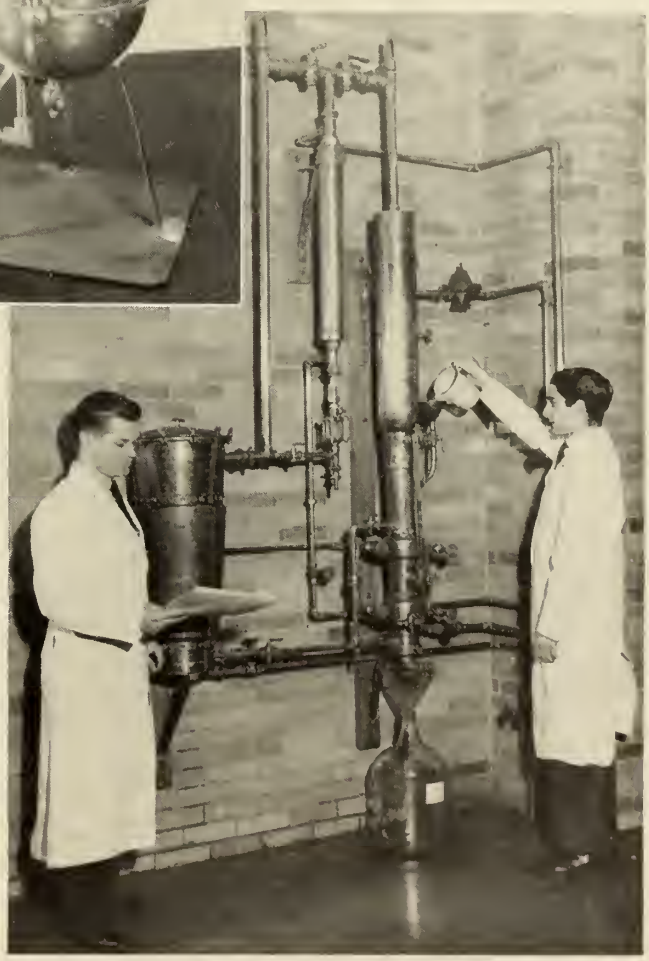
Pharmaceutical manufacturing, like the other special branches of pharmacy, is continually changing, due primarily to new discoveries resulting from research work in chemistry, physics and the biological and medical sciences. The School of Pharmacy recognized the growing importance of this field of pharmaceutical endeavor and equipped laboratories for giving instruction in pharmaceutical manufacturing in the building which it now occupies.



These laboratories serve a two fold purpose. They enable the School to give advanced instruction to students in the processes employed in pharmaceutical manufacturing and to supply the University Hospital and Free Dispensary with many of the medicinal preparations required.

Some idea of the advances made in improving the apparatus used in pharmaceutical manufacturing is to be obtained from the photographs used to illustrate this article. The first photo-

Maryland's Field Day Program, May 3, Filled With Attractions For 30th Anniversary

Maryland will celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the starting of Field Day at College Park on May 3 with one of the finest programs it ever has staged. It will be only the 24th meet, as there were lapses in several years, owing to war and other adverse conditions.

As usual, the day is primarily for schoolboys, with a track card that embraces 13 open events and seven individual events and two relays closed to county high schools of the State, but the list of varsity contests is unusually attractive.

There also is a special relay race for the Maryland Interscholastic Association that is one of the highlights of the schoolboy competition.

Program Is Luring

Here is the complete program:

12:00 Noon—Interscholastic track meet, with varsity test between Maryland and Virginia Poly to be run off concurrently.

1:00 p.m.—Tennis, Maryland vs. George Washington.

2:30 p.m.—Baseball, Maryland vs. Washington College.

4:00 p.m.—Lacrosse, Maryland vs. Princeton.

Allegany High School of Cumberland took the county team trophy last year with Seton Hall capturing the open honors. Hagerstown and Bel Air were second and third, respectively, in the county scoring in which thirteen schools shared in the point-getting.

Records Are Smashed

Sam Leonard of St. Michael's leaped 5 feet 11 inches in the high jump to break the only county record but two were smashed in the open division. Joe Goodman of Mount St. Joe of Baltimore hurled the discus 138 feet 4 inches and Earl Audet of Seton Hall tossed the 12-pound shot 57 feet 4 inches.

Terp varsity teams are hopeful they will be as successful as a year ago. Figuring in the home program, the trackmen beat Virginia, 69½ to 56½; the ball team routed William and Mary, 11 to 0, and the netmen trimmed George Washington, 9 to 0. The stickmen were at Princeton, where they won, 9 to 4.

Princeton, however, probably has its finest lacrosse team this season and will be the first big barrier faced by Maryland's collegiate champions. Two notable Princeton feats this year were the holding of Mount Washington to a 6 to 7 score and trimming Baltimore A. C., 12 to 7. The Tigers actually outplayed Mount Washington, perennial national club titleholders.

Terps Facing Tasks

Only the Maryland tennis team will be a hot favorite on May 3, as the tracksters, ball team and lacrosse team will be no better than 50-50 choices at the best.

The Terp track team had won two of three dual meets and was preparing for the Penn Relay Carnival when this was written, the stickmen were readying to oppose Army at West Point after having taken their first five games, and the busy ball team was striving to catch up on a big deficit compiled in its early games.

None of these three squads has shown to be up to their 1940 power, the nine lacking the pitching and hitting strength of a year ago, the tracksters not being up to the standard in the running events and weak, as usual, in the field tests, and the defense is proving a big worry to the lacrosse mentors.

Three Successive Tests

Starting with Princeton and then following with Mount Washington and Johns Hopkins, Maryland will be meeting its three strongest lacrosse rivals in successive weeks. All are stronger than a year ago, particularly Hopkins, which the critics already are conceding the 1941 national collegiate title.

Mount Washington has filled its ranks with former college stars, with one-time Maryland stick aces playing leading roles. With the club team are such ex-Terps as Fred Stieber, Bob Nielson, Fred Hewitt, Bill Bond, Bill Cole, Bruce Campbell, Bill Groff and Gary Todd, almost a great team in themselves. Buck Turner, Princeton's 1940 all-America goalie, and others also have been added.

Hopkins Is Powerful

Hopkins has by far the most formidable collection of lacrosse players any one squad has boasted in many years and in winning its first five games did not have a point scored against it.

Virginia Poly will present a real track ace

Terps Put Four Teams In Penn Carnival

Maryland has entered four events in the Penn Relay Carnival at Philadelphia on April 25 and 26 — the half-mile, mile, sprint medley and two miles — but will stress two of them.

Coach Coleman Headley figures his best chances are in the sprint medley and mile but, of course, will prepare for the other two the best he can and will not scratch in any of them unless the time between them is too close.

Here are entries:

Half-Mile—Joe Murphy, Lou Chacos, John Adams, Bob Montgomery and Vernon Miller and Tom Devlin.

Mile—Murphy, Chacos, Gene Ochsenreiter, Devlin, Miller and Tom Fields.

Sprint Medley—Ochsenreiter, Murphy, Chacos, Fields, Montgomery, Miller.

Two Miles—Ochsenreiter, Fields, Bob Condon, Randall Cronin, Devlin and Montgomery.

Three of these runners — Fields, Ochsenreiter and Condon — figured in Maryland's triple triumph last year. Fields ran in all three last year, the two miles, sprint medley and four miles. Ochsenreiter was on the two-mile team and Condon on the four-mile quartet.

Jim Kehoe and Mason Chronister, who ran in all three, and Alan Miller, who ran in two, were lost by graduation and their shoes haven't been filled.

aid in erecting a suitable building. In 1875, a committee of the College petitioned the City Council of Baltimore to grant the College the school building on Asquith Street, known as Female Grammer School No. 3. This request was denied, but the building was purchased from the City of Baltimore early in 1876. This building was remodeled and used until the latter part of the session of 1886-87, when a three-story modern structure was erected on the same site. The latter building was occupied until the Maryland College of Pharmacy was amalgamated with the group of professional schools in Baltimore then known as the University of Maryland. It became a department of the State University when the old University of Maryland was merged with the Maryland State College in 1920.

Noteworthy Accomplishments

From the very beginning, the School has kept pace and more often has been in the vanguard of the advancement of pharmaceutical education. The professors and graduates made many noteworthy contributions to the advancement of pharmacy and many "first in pharmacy" are recorded to its credit through the work of these men of extraordinary ability and character. The first separate professorship in the theory and practice of pharmacy in the United States was established at the Maryland College of Pharmacy on April 24, 1844, and Dr. David Stewart was elected the professor in charge. The first obligatory course in analytical chemistry given in a school of pharmacy in this country was made a part of the curriculum on March 23, 1872, and William Simon, Ph.D., was made director of the laboratory. It was Alpheus P. Sharp, one of the first graduates of the Maryland College of Pharmacy (June 19, 1842) and co-founder of the manufacturing firm of Sharp and Dohme, who presented the first scientific paper read before the sessions of the American Pharmaceutical Association, the subject being "On the strength of Commercial Muriatic and Nitric Acids and Alcohols" (morning session of the Fourth Annual Meeting, September 13, 1855, New York City). The studies on percolation reported by Professor Israel J. Grahame in 1858 and the work of William Silver Thompson, one of the first three graduates of the school, on the manufacture and analysis of various types of pharmaceutical preparations, reported in the years 1857 to 1860, while not strictly "firsts," stand out as being of pioneer character and exceptionally meritorious. The work done by Dr. Charles Caspari, Jr., in 1896 on the adaptation of volumetric methods of analysis to the assay of the official alkaloidal drugs, is still considered a classic. The School was one of the first to establish a separate course in prescription compounding, consisting of both lectures and laboratory work. Dr. Henry P. Hynson was elected the first professor of dispensing pharmacy. The first laboratory in a school of pharmacy for instruction in bio-chemical assays was established at Maryland in 1930 through the generosity of the late Capt. Isaac E. Emerson. Professor Marvin R. Thompson was the first professor.

Pharmaceutical Education

At the call of the Maryland College of Pharmacy, the first convention of representatives of the colleges of pharmacy of this country was held in Baltimore on September 13, 1870, for the purpose of formulating uniform standards for the graduation of pharmacy students. Again in 1900, it was Dr. Henry P. Hynson, Secretary of the Maryland College of Pharmacy, who issued the call for the conference of pharmaceutical educators which finally resulted in the formation of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, an organization comparable to the American Association of Medical Colleges in its particular sphere of influence. That the call for advancement in pharmaceutical education is still resounding from Maryland is evidenced by the fact that the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education, an agency created in 1932 for the accreditation of colleges of Pharmacy, is largely the result of efforts put forth by members of the present faculty of the School.

Influence Of School On Health Measures

The School has also had its influence upon the health measures which have been enacted in Maryland to govern the practice of pharmacy and to control the manufacture, sale and distribution of drugs and medicines. Subsequent to 1841, and prior to 1902, the year in which the first State-wide pharmacy practice law was passed, all pharmaceutical laws enacted by the Legislature of this State were initiated and fostered by the School of Pharmacy. It was a former dean of the School, Dr. Charles Caspari, Jr., who was the first pharmacist to be appointed a member of the State Board of Health, and it was he who organized the Food and Drug Bureau of the State Department of Health.

on Field Day in "Mac" McMullin. He took four firsts in a recent meet — the 100, 220 and both high and low hurdles— and his times in all were exceptionally fast. His battles with Joe Murphy, Maryland Southern Conference champion in the two dashes should be thrillers.

Special luncheons are planned for both Wednesday and Thursday at the Emerson Hotel. The ladies will be entertained on Wednesday afternoon following the luncheon. There will be a reception and dance on Wednesday evening at the Maryland Casualty Ballroom. The fraternities, sorority, societies and student activity groups will participate in this informal part of the Centennial Celebration. The climax will be the banquet at the Emerson Hotel on Thursday evening. This is the annual banquet of the Alumni Association, which will be broadened and lengthened to include the participation of all visitors and groups attending the Celebration.

these fifty years I have given little thought to the passing of time — have lived a regular normal life, found my niche and kept busy with the features of it that I enjoyed.

Our Semi-Centennial Celebration, 1891, was an accepted success. Philadelphia gave us the largest delegation — Remington, Maisch, Sadtler and Kraemer; New York with her Bedford and Rusby was a worthy second, while most colleges of pharmacy remembered us. I regret to say that none of the gentlemen mentioned above are now living. It was a success because of wise planning and united effort, and if these forces continue operative, and I feel sure they will, our nearby Centennial will be a happy repetition of what has gone before. Let us hope, plan and strive to that end.

This etching is of the new Memorial Gateway, sponsored by the class of 1910, located at the Rossborough Inn. It is all a part of the new campus layout which eliminated the old Riggs Road running through the campus and this Gateway will be the beginning of a path which will run through the entire campus. It had been originally planned to have the dedication of this Gateway on Alumni Day but due to unavoidable circumstances which has prevented its completion the dedication will be postponed until Homecoming Day this fall. President of the class of 1910 is the Honorable William P. Cole, Maryland's Representative in Congress, and the Secretary is Col. O. H. Saunders, Commander of the Twelfth Infantry. O. R. ## Fellow Alumni:

The Alumni Board and President of your Association is inviting President Byrd, the Board of Regents, Faculty, Alumni, Senior Class and their friends to a reception to be given at the Rossborough Inn on Alumni Day, June 6, between the hours of 4 and 5:30 P.M.

Last year, when the Rossborough Inn was formally opened on Alumni Day, the University gave an opening reception in honor of Alumni and friends. This has been regarded as a splendid gesture to our Alumni and established a precedent which the Alumni Association will endeavor to perpetuate by making the Alumni Reception in the Rossborough Inn on Alumni Day an annual affair.

A full schedule of events for Alumni Day are given elsewhere in the News. However, I should like to call your attention to the Alumni Luncheon at noon, which will be followed by the Annual Alumni Meeting. At this time a special presentation will be made to commemorate the late Willard M. Hillegeist, '12,

Twenty-Five-Year Reunion for Class of 1916

CLASS OF 1916

Class Reunions For Alumni Day

1891 — Fifty-Year Class

The leading class in the Reunion parade will be the class of 1891. It was fifty years ago when this group of four boys received their diplomas; now more than eight hundred will receive their coveted sheepskins this June. Fletcher P. Veitch, former president of the Alumni Association and a resident of College Park, will perform the class honors and receive the class flag.

1896 — Forty-Five-Year Class

Five years later, in 1896, the size of the class had more than doubled. There were ten in the class of 1896, which included Mahlon N. Haines, the first cadet to win the individual competition drill held at College Park; W. T. S. Rollins, one of Maryland's former gridiron stars, and Commander T. G. Crapster, of the United States Coast Guard.

1901 — Forty-Year Class

Henry C. Whiteford, former president of the Alumni Association, plans on being present and hopes the other surviving member, J. T. Harding, of Atlanta, Ga., will be here, too. They will represent the class of 1901.

1906 — Thirty-Five-Year Class

The classes are now beginning to grow and in the class of 1906 there were thirteen boys. A. Moulton McNutt, president of the Philadelphia Alumni Group; L. Ferdinand Zerkel, of Luray, Va., and Rev. Letcher T. Showell are some of the luminaries.

1911 — Thirty-Year Class

In the class of 1911 we have one of the most enthusiastic class leaders and alumnus, Col. L. M. Silvester, of the armored forces of the United States Army, now at Fort Knox, Tenn. He will not be here in person, but you can place a 100-to-1 bet that his spirit will be at College Park. A. Dixon Garey and J. W. Kinghorne will carry on the class reunion.

Twenty-Five-Year Reunion

Here we have the spirit of 1916 which, twenty-five years ago, had a similar situation to face as the boys of this year's class, a World War. Many of this class answered Uncle Sam's call and served overseas. Les Bopst, campus member, has written all classmates about the Reunion and feels that a real return is assured.

1921 — Twenty-Year Class

C. Walter Cole, class president of 1921, has issued a call. This is the second class from College Park to receive the University of Maryland diploma. It was an active class and had many student leaders in its ranks. Today many are listed among eminent Alumni. This class should show the way to the classes who are to follow in having reunions.

1926 — Fifteen-Year Class

On the campus there are several members of the class of 1926 — Jack Faber, football and lacrosse coach, as well as professor of bacteriology; Zuke Supplee, chemist; George Fogg, reference librarian, and E. A. Walker, professor of plant pathology.

The class valedictorian, Tom Brown, is expected to be present with his oratory.

Dr. Skinner, '95, Resigns As Regent Of University

As the News was going to press word was received that Dr. W. W. Skinner, '95, had tendered his resignation as a member of the Board of Regents to Governor Herbert R. O'Conor, '20. Dr. Skinner had been a member of the Board for twenty-five years and had served as its chairman since 1934.

He was a graduate in Chemistry and at present is Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry for the Department of Agriculture.

The loss of his council and services will be more than anyone can conjecture. He has been a most loyal and faithful worker in behalf of his Alma Mater. Has always taken an active part in the affairs of the Alumni Association. He has the singular distinction of having played quarterback on the first football team to make collegiate

Mr. Turner Appointed Member Board Of Regents

At the termination of the school year the term of service of Mr. Harry H. Nuttle '05, will end as a member of the Board of Regents. Mr. Nuttle, a prominent citizen and business man on the Eastern Shore, has been a member of the Board since 1932. The term of service for a member is nine years.

Mr. P. C. Turner, president of the State Farm Bureau, will succeed Mr. Nuttle.

Many Alumni Returning For 49th Annual Alumni Reunion

Soon millions of young men and young women will receive their diplomas from college and join the ranks of alumni. They are saying, "I will never miss coming back for June Week if I can help it." Now the time is near for all alumni to fulfill that pledge. The Annual Alumni Reunion, Friday, June 6, is the day to renew that old pledge and see your classmates again.

Alumni Day begins at 10 A. M., and you enter the campus by the new Gateway at the Rossborough Inn. The class of 1910 is sponsoring this Gateway, which will be dedicated next fall at Homecoming.

It might be well for alumni to park their cars at the Ritchie Coliseum and cross the boulevard to the Inn. Near the Inn a registration booth will give all necessary information about the day. The morning will be for sightseeing and committee meetings. At noon, the class of 1891, the eminent class of the day, will raise their flag. Following this the Annual Alumni Luncheon will be held in the University Dining Hall, after which the Annual Meeting of the Association will be held and election of officers will be made for the ensuing year.

At the annual luncheon a portrait in oil of the late Willard M. Hillegeist, '12, will be presented to the University by James Stevens, '19, and James Swarty, '19, on behalf of the Alumni of the University.

College Meetings

In the afternoon at 2:30 each Dean will be in his office to greet all grads of his college and also to conduct a meeting of the Board of Representatives for their respective colleges. Members of the College Board will be selected at this time and representatives on General Alumni Executive Board appointed.

At 3:30 P. M. class reunions will be held at designated places. This is the key to successful Alumni Reunions. Special reunions are being held by the five-year classes beginning with 1891, then 1896, 1901, 1906, 1911, 1916 (twenty-year classes), 1921, 1926, 1931, 1936, and the infants, 1941.

Reception

Many alumni have so favorably commented on the opening reception held at the Rossborough Inn last year on Alumni Day that the Alumni Board has planned to hold the reception again this year from 4 to 5:30 P. M., with the hope that it will become a traditional part of Alumni Day. This reception will be given by the alumni for the President of our University, the Board of Regents, Faculty, and the Senior Class and their friends. The Inn was originally the center of social life in colonial days and again it should foster and perpetuate that spirit.

At 6 P.M. the Alumni, Faculty, Senior Class Dinner will be held in the University Dining Hall. Dress is optional. Speeches have been ruled out and a real fellowship get-together is on the menu. This is the first time the Senior Class has participated in this dinner and we are looking forward to a real evening.

Another outstanding event will be the Class Day exercises held under the auspices of the Senior Class with alumni cooperating. This event will be held out on the campus immediately following the dinner. Special entertainment has been arranged which will include talented artists, honors to Seniors and a Senior Class play. The class of 1941 is endeavoring to revive the old Class Day spirit, along with the alumni efforts for a big day. This is a good way to start real spirit.

Commencement Ball

One of the more traditional functions is the Commencement Ball which was inaugurated seventy-nine years ago. The returning old grads who attend the dinner, Faculty, members of the Senior Class and various student leaders are invited to attend the Ball, which will begin at 9:30 P. M. in the University Gymnasium.

For the ladies, who come with alumni husbands, we have made special plans for you. The Rossborough Inn is interesting, also the new Home Economics Building with its new Maryland lounge room as well as the women's dormitories. At all places there are conveniences for your comfort. Any ladies desiring a room for changing clothes can obtain accommodations in either of the women's dormitories.

For husbands of alumnae, just fall into the swing with the men and enjoy the festivities.

Everyone is welcome, so come on back to the campus for the 49th Alumni Reunion, Friday, June 6, 1941.

Cator Woolford, '89, Visits Campus

The founder of the nationally known Retail Credit Company, Mr. Cator Woolford, '89, recently visited his Alma Mater. Mr. Woolford, a former Eastern Shoreman, resides in Atlanta, Ga., where he started his company more than forty years ago. Now his company covers the United States, Canada and several foreign countries.

Mr. Woolford is a strong believer in military organizations and recalls the days when he was a cadet at the College Park Schools with much enthusiasm. He has followed military tactics in the organization of his company. His military enthusiasm dates back 55 years ago when he was a sergeant in the second prize company at National Encampment and Drill held in Washington in 1887. Here picked companies from all military schools in the country came to Washington for the drill. It was the greatest thing of its kind ever held.

Along with his honorable company mate, the Hon. Melvin C. Hazen, '89, a lieutenant in the prize-winning company, Mr. Woolford will have a picture of the company presented to the University on Alumni Day.

Fisheries—J. F. Punocochar, '36, who has been with the United States Bureau of Fisheries, was recently transferred to:

U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service
Fishery Products Service
Mayaguez, Puerto Rico

He will be in charge of studies in canning, freezing and smoking of fishery products. Researches in the utilization of fishery by-products will also be conducted. He will employ fishery technologists, an economist, a biologist, and students from Latin American countries for training in the fisheries. The laboratory will start operations shortly after July 1st, 1941. Cooperation between the University of Puerto Rico for granting fellowships in fishery research will be encouraged.

Defense Activities Of The College Of Engineering

In addition to normal teaching and research under way in the College of Engineering, a number of defense activities have been undertaken since the beginning of the present national emergency. Following is a brief description of some of these projects:

Engineering Defense Training

In accordance with an Act of Congress the United States Office of Education was authorized late last fall to contract with accredited engineering colleges for specialized engineering training through courses of college grade in fields essential to the national defense. Dean S. S. Steinberg of the College of Engineering was appointed by Dr. J. W. Studebaker, United States Commissioner of Education, Regional Adviser for Engineering Defense Training for Region 7, comprising Maryland and the District of Columbia, and including the following five universities: Maryland, Johns Hopkins, George Washington, Catholic, and Howard.

The Engineering Defense Training program at the University was inaugurated after conferences with representatives of defense industries in Maryland and the District of Columbia and with the Army and the Navy. It was found that in this area the greatest need for trained personnel was in design, managerial, and supervisory positions in the aircraft and radio industries. Accordingly, arrangements were made by the College of Engineering to offer the following courses: Aeronautical Drafting, Aircraft Design, Aircraft Tool Engineering, Aircraft Inspection, Radio Engineering, Radio Testing and Inspection, Engineering Drawing, and Metallurgy and Testing of Iron and Steel.

The courses are being offered primarily at night and about one thousand students are enrolled with the University at College Park, Baltimore, Hagerstown, and Washington, D. C. The men are being trained for the Glenn L. Martin Company in Baltimore, the Engineering and Research Corporation in Riverdale, the Air-Track Corporation in College Park, the Fairchild Aircraft Corporation in Hagerstown, the radio division of the Westinghouse Company as well as the Bendix Radio Corporation in Baltimore, the Ordnance Department of the Army and the Naval Gun Factory in Washington.

Civil Aeronautics Flight Training

With the cooperation of the Civil Aeronautics Authority the College of Engineering has been training civilian pilots in both the preliminary and secondary courses. This work is under the direction of Dr. J. E. Younger, chairman of the Department of Mechanical Engineering. In the preliminary course the quota is fifty students per semester and fifty students for the summer session. In the secondary course the quota is thirty students per semester and thirty students for the summer session.

Aeronautical Research

In cooperation with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, the College of Engineering is now conducting two research projects; one on aircraft structures under the direction of Dr. Younger, and the other on diesel engines under the direction of Professor W. P. Green.

Cooperation With U. S. Bureau Of Mines

In cooperation with the Eastern Experiment Station of the United States Bureau of Mines, located on our campus, the Department of Chemical Engineering under Dr. W. J. Huff is closely associated with studies being conducted by the bureau in connection with many problems of importance in national defense. Much of this work is of a highly confidential nature.

Fire Protection In Defense

The Fire Service Extension Department under the direction of J. W. Just is cooperating with the Maryland Council of Defense and Resources and with the National Fire Protection Association in studies looking toward fire protection for the State of Maryland in case of an emergency.

Cooperation With War Department

At the request of the War Department the College of Engineering is making available to that organization the results of all research studies that are of value in defense. In addition, the facilities of staff and laboratories have been offered to the War Department for conducting any researches they may care to initiate.

Military Day Presented; Drill Parade, Sham Battle

Seventy-one members of the Senior R. O. T. C. officers received a special review from their comrades as a parting tribute to their leadership. These Senior R. O. T. C. officers will leave soon after the close of school to take their place as junior officers in the growing United States Army.

The opening parade by the R. O. T. C. and a special demonstration of modern tactics by members of the 12th Infantry were in honor of Major General Milton A. Reckord, commanding officer of the 29th Division. General Reckord took the review with his nephew, Cadet Colonel John G. Reckord, R. O. T. C. regimental commander.

The remainder of the program was competitive drills between battalions, companies, platoons, squads, and individuals. More than 1200 boys took part in the competition.

Commander of the winning battalion was Cadet Lieut. Col. John C. Marzolf, of Washington, D. C. Capt. D. C. Kelly, of Brooklyn, N. Y., headed the winning company.

Lieut. L. J. Meakin, of Washington, commanded the winning platoon. Squad leader William W. Bagby won the squad drill.

The high light of the competitions was the individual drill. William H. Pindell was first; William C. Ellett, second, and Harry E. Shilling, third, all of Washington, D. C. The competition was very close and the judges experienced considerable difficulty in picking the winner. The individual competition was in the manual of arms.

Judges for the day were Alumni and former R. O. T. C. officers now on active duty with the U. S. Army, which included Maj. Geary Eppley, '18, Athletic Officer at Camp Meade, chief judge, Lieut. Robert Troth, '31, Lieut. Merle Preble, '40, Major John T. O'Neill, '31, Lieut. Walter Talkes, '35, Lieut. Logan Schutz, '40, Lieut. Fred Hewitt, '40, and Lieut. George Weber, '33.

Several outstanding Alumni were among the honored guests of the day. Mahlon N. Haines, '96, of York, Pa., was the first

Queen Of The May

Miss Barbara Boose, '41, brunette, with a splendid personality and pleasing manner, was crowned Queen of the May at the 19th Annual May Day Festival. Members of the Queen's court were Alice Burkins, Hilda Christensen, Ruth Evans, Bernice Kress, Betty Owens, Margaret Loar, Betsy Ross, Marjorie Ruppersberger, Lida Sargeant, Katherine Schindel, Judy Woodring, and June Yagendorf. The junior girls presented a pageant with peasant atmosphere in honor of senior coeds. The festivities were held on the campus near the Tunnel.

Mortar Board Taps

Top honorary women's society, Mortar Board, tapped nine coeds for their outstanding scholarship and leadership attainments. Those tapped were:

Kay Barker, A.&S., Washington, D. C.; Ruth Dashiell, H.E., Cambridge, Md.; Elizabeth Funk, H.E., Hagerstown, Md.; Doris McFarland, H.E., Cumberland, Md.; Mary Powell, Ed., Hagerstown, Md.; Ruth Lee Thompson, H.E., Cumberland, Md.; Florence White, Ed., Poolesville, Md.; Carolyn Lacey, A.&S., Chevy Chase, Md.; Charlotte White, Ed., Dickenson, Md., the daughter of F. Max White, '11, and the sister of Maxine White, '37.

tudent in the University to win the indi-idual competitive drill medal which was offered for the first time in 1894. Also present were J. J. Betton, '99, class representative and donor of the individual medal nd Col. O. H. Saunders, '10, Commander of the 12th Infantry, Arlington, Va. Dr. H. C. Byrd, '08, president of the University, and Col. Robert E. Wysor, P. M. S. and T. were the official hosts of he day.

Probably the most spectacular part of he program was the sham battle put on y R. O. T. C. cadets. This display was nade over the hills northwest of Guerneaux Hall and west of the new Dairy Barns. ifles, machine guns, trench mortars, and roplanes were used in the battle. Lots of oise. This was the concluding event of a ll day's program.

MAY QUEEN AND HER COURT

Attendants in the court: Miss Joe Shipley, daughter of H. Burton Shipley, '14; Miss Leslie Bopst, daughter of L. E. Bopst, '16, and Master Brian Powers, son of Ralph Powers, '28.

Married—Lieut. Walter N. Talkes, '35, United States Army, and Miss Myrtle Larmore Krebs, of Washington, D. C., were married April 28, 1941, in Washington. Walter is a member of the Sigma Phi Sigma Fraternity.

o

Married—John Boyda, '40, and Miss Eleanor Sherman of Baltimore were married April 11, 1941, in Baltimore. John is a former Old Line outstanding football and baseball star.

o

Married—Miss Marjorie Vera MacDonald, of Brunswick, Md., and Mr. Victor Meade Wingate, '33, were married in Brunswick April 19, last. Victor was a member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity, a graduate in Agriculture, and a former Old Line lacrosse and boxing luminary.

history for his Alma Mater; that was in 1892.

The Alumni deeply regrets to hear about the resignation of our eminent Alumnus as a member of our Board of Regents but in the same breath wish to express grateful appreciations for the generous and faithful service he has rendered our University.

Necrology—Dr. George Lewis Wimberly, '83, M.D., died at his home in North Carolina in March. He is a native of Edgecombe County and first attended the University of North Carolina before entering the University of Maryland Medical School. He began practice in 1886 in Rocky Mount where he remained until his death.

Old Line Athletic Contributions

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

Maryland Spring Sports Are Below Par But Generally On Right Side Of Ledger

Maryland athletic squads were putting on the finishing touches to a busy spring campaign when this was written, with the certainty that all of the varsity teams would finish on the right side of the ledger, except the ball team.

All of the freshman combinations, too, except the diamonders, were well on the credit side, with the track team giving Maryland its first undefeated yearling team in this pastime.

Its major victory was scored over the Navy Plebes, who were beaten for the first time in five years in this pastime.

Maryland had three more varsity ball games on the card as this was penned but had lost 15 of 22 contests played so had no chance of making up lost ground. This, the worst season in many years, mainly was attributable to lack of good pitching. However, the squad was not up to par in fielding, either, although the Terps hit about up to standard. It just took too many runs to win games.

Lacrosse Title Is Lost

The Terps, riddled by graduations and other losses before the season started, and injuries to stars after it began, also lost the national intercollegiate lacrosse championship when the ten bowed to Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, 3-10, on May 17.

The squad went into the game injury-riddled but was up against one of the finest Hopkins teams in many seasons and doubtless would have lost had it been able to muster its full strength. Hopkins had great balance in addition to having some outstanding individuals.

A track team, which also had lost some of the greatest runners ever to wear a spiked shoe, lived fully up to expectations by winning 4 of 7 dual meets and finishing third in the Southern Conference outdoor title meet, while the tennis team, with 10 wins and two losses and one match to go, upheld its end in grand style.

Freshmen Do All Right

Freshmen in track, baseball, tennis and lacrosse had won 19 of 25 tests at this summing up, with all having finished their schedules except Rosy Pollock's young diamonders. Like the varsity, the yearlings also were shy on pitching with the chances against them taking more than one of their remaining three tilts.

The main job that was left was the completing of the averages and determining just how many athletes figured in sufficient contests to get their letters. There is certain to be fewer "M's" in lacrosse than in any other big sport, as Jack Faber and Al Heagy had to rely on just 12 men to carry the squad along, and some of those were not up to the usual caliber.

Athletes' Status Uncertain

With the defense program uppermost in the mind of everyone, there are many ifs between now and next season — even to football in the fall — but if Maryland doesn't lose too many of its athletes, especially outstanding freshmen, 1941-42 should bring better things generally.

A complete review of sports for the year will be given in the next issue of the News when each team will be accorded more detailed attention.

MAISEL GETS HIGH HONOR

Fritz Maisel, Maryland outfielder and soccer star from Catonsville, has been elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary fraternity.

FETTERS UNUSUAL STAR

Bob Fetters, Maryland sophomore from Baltimore, who won his letter in basket ball the past season and who played regularly at cover point for the lacrosse team, never took part in either sport in high school. He attended Baltimore Poly.

COMMUTED TO PITCH

Charley Woodward, letter man pitcher of the Maryland nine last year, who went to the law school in Baltimore last fall after three years at College Park, stuck by the 1941 squad. He commuted from Baltimore by auto. Charley is a brother of Art Woodward, husky Terp junior hurler but is nearly 30 pounds lighter at 156.

ALL NETMEN ACTIVE

Every racketer on the Maryland team was happy this season. There were only eight on the squad and every netman played in everyone of the matches.

DEVELOPS AS STICKMAN

Landis Hill, a little attack man from Western High of Washington, who came to Maryland without lacrosse experience was the only stickman from outside of the State to figure in the Terps' games. He showed exceptional improvement and was an able reserve.

WORK CHECKS ATHLETE

Outfielder Danny Boothe from Roosevelt High in Washington was the best looking soph player on the Maryland ball team. Boothe, who is 6 feet 3 inches weighs 178 pounds, is also an ace basketer and football end but hasn't found time for these sports because he is an engineering student who works to help pay for his education.

PITCHER IS SENATOR'S SON

Jim Mead, reserve Maryland pitcher, the son of the United States Senator from New York.

AFTER THIRD LETTER

Mearl DuVall, Maryland first sacker and hardest hitter on the team, worked for his third letter this season. He already had his "M" in basket ball and football.

GUNTHER HARD WORKER

Herb Gunther, Maryland's rookie catcher, is a glutton for work. He went into Spring football practice right after winning the Southern Conference light-heavy boxing crown and took only a short breathing spell before hopping to the diamond. He didn't have any real rest between the regular grid season and the ring campaign.

LACROSSE TEAM WAS LIGHT

Maryland's lacrosse team was the lightest the Terps have put on the field in years. Bill Graham, defense man, who scales 182, was the only stickman in the 180-pound class.

Air Corps—Robert Waters, '40, has enlisted in the United States Army Air Corps and has been sent to Puerto Rico. Waters took the C. A. A. flying course here at the University. Bob hails from Princess Anne, Maryland.

Smith, '39, Named Director Recreation Area

Blair H. Smith, '39, one of Maryland's past gridiron luminaries, has been appointed resident recreational director for the Rollingwood Play Area and Jessup Park Community Center of the Maryland Metropolitan Area, as announced by Park Commissioner Lacy Shaw of Montgomery County.

Blair graduated in Education and became Recreational Director of Athletics at Gallaudet College, where he developed a very successful athletic program.

Mr. Shaw said when he made the appointment that "It was with considerable pride, since the appointee's qualifications made securing his services very desirable."

The new director will be charged with developing as well as administering the recreational facilities of the two areas. Rollingwood is the extension of Rock Creek Park into Maryland and includes a horse show grounds as well as the usual recreational facilities.

Blair hails from Mt. Rainier and was a local athlete who made good at our State University.

GRAPEVINE NEWS
about those we know

Cyanamide—Dr. H. J. o

Venezuela—"Swede" Eppley, '20, received a note from Richard Sutton, '22, who is now Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at San Juan de los Morros, Estado Guarico, Venezuela. Dick extends a welcome to any Maryland graduate whose ship might be sailing his way to pay him a visit. In his note to Eppley, he included a grass sample on which he wanted judgment and comments.

o

Artillery—When the 260th Coast Artillery of the District National Guard left Washington last month, Lieut. Norwood Sothoron, '34, went with them to Fort Bliss, Texas. Here the unit will go into training.

o

Secretary — James M. Campbell, '35, better known as Jimmy, a promising young lawyer, has been chosen executive secretary of the Hyattsville Chamber of Commerce. Jimmy now is associated with his father in the practice of law.

New Student Government Officers

WILLIAM HOLBROOK LARRY MACKENZIE MARY ANN GRIFFITH

Mr. Holbrook, of College Park, junior class president, varsity boxer and runner, has been chosen president of Student Government Association at the University of Maryland. Mr. MacKenzie, of Silver Spring, is vice-president, and Miss Griffith, also of Silver Spring, is secretary-treasurer.

Class Reunions

Tom said in his address, "June and Commencement Week always bring back memories of the classes which preceded us. This year, as seniors, there is a satisfying sense of accomplishment, not unmixed with sadness at the thought of parting. With thoughts of the future before us we realize our responsibility to our Alma Mater."

Stew Whaley, Louise Richardson, Tom Kelley, Ham Whiteford, Harold Remsberg, and many others back Tom in what he said. The next best indication is to be on hand Friday, June 6, to give re-emphasis to the class spirit.

1931 — Ten-Year Class

Joseph Deckman, a former all-American lacrosse star and gridiron performer, heads this class for their tenth anniversary. Joe now manages and coaches the Washington lacrosse club. His running mate, Jimmy Lee, himself a lacrosse luminary, is in Washington and should be here. Their guide and secretary was Jane Hammack, now a resident of College Park and the wife of Major John T. O'Neill, '31, former president of the Student Government. Darius Dixon, now a full-fledged physician, carries the class wealth as treasurer. All should be on hand and looking for many others.

1936 — Five-Year Class

Here they are, up to their first five-year Reunion, and how they have scattered, some as far away as China, many in the service of Uncle Sam, and then others have not strayed far. Herbie Brill, class president, will lead the return of his classmates of 1936. His able assistants — Betty Quirk, Selby Frank and Sam Leishear, fellow class officers, expect to be here. Lou Ennis, now in the Marines, might be here; June Barnesby, now Mrs. John Simpson, is on the Pacific Coast and not likely to be present in person. Bob Beale, now on the Military Staff at his Alma Mater, will be the campus greeter for the class. Friday, June 6, is a day to get acquainted all over again.

Class Reunions make the day.

From Our President

former Director of Admissions of our Alma Mater. Immediately following the Alumni Meeting there will be class reunions of the five-year classes. Special class reunion of those graduating fifty and twenty-five years ago will be of special interest at our luncheon. It will be of much interest to meet and to know those who graduated fifty years ago. I personally will be delighted to meet again all of those graduated in 1916 or twenty-five years ago.

As next year will be the fiftieth anniversary of our Alumni Association, I am recommending to the Alumni Board a celebration of this occasion by fostering a grand reunion of all classes on Alumni Day in June, 1942. I hope this suggestion will meet with the approval of our Alumni and that you will begin now to make plans to be present to celebrate with your classmates this fiftieth anniversary of our Association.

Since I will retire as your Alumni President on June 6, I want to take this opportunity to say that I have greatly enjoyed serving you. I am very much interested in the proper kind of public education and am particularly interested in the activities of the University of Maryland. I am a strong believer in the value of a well organized Alumni Association, and I am convinced, if the Alumni should ever be fully organized, they can be of great service to our University which will be of direct value to our State. I want to thank the Alumni Board and the many Alumni for their cooperation and assistance. I only wish I could have had more time and the means to have accomplished more in the way of organization and leadership which is essential to a strong and dignified Alumni Association.

With best wishes and with hopes that you will be with us on June 6, I am

Sincerely yours,

PETER W. CHICHESTER,

President

Ray Carrington, '28, Artist Drew Pictures For "Terrapin"

We call your attention to the picture which appeared on the cover of last month's issue of the ALUMNI NEWS of the new Home Economics Building. This picture, reproduced by a line cut, was drawn by Ray Carrington for last year's Terrapin student yearbook. Ray has been specializing in art ever since graduation.

He has carried on his art studies at several schools and has received numerous prizes when exhibiting his work. Ray is active in many art clubs and has held office in a number of them.

In addition to being art editor in the University Extension Service, he is publishing director for the student yearbook, the Terrapin. This year the Terrapin made the all-American grade in college yearbooks and joined the country's exhibition tour. It is the first time the Terrapin has received this distinction.

The drawings which Ray made for the yearbook is a process which has been used only once before in University yearbooks.
